Drokpakay (HBROD-PA-SKAD) is spoken mainly in two villages of Merak and Sakteng under Tashigang district in extreme Eastern Bhutan by the yakherds. Therefore, it is also known as Merak-Sakteng-kha. In Dzongkha, it is called Jobikha whereas in Tshangla or Sharchhobikha it is called Damilo. It is spoken by 2,000 residents and 3,000 residents of Merak and Sakteng respectively.

An Introduction to Bhutanese Languages

Foreword by
Ven. Lopon Choechong
Joint Editor-in-Chief
Dzongkha Development Commission
Thimphu : Bhutan, 1996

Dr. C. T. DORJI

VIKAS PUBLISHING HOUSE PVT LTD